

Our analysts work around the clock to compile a comprehensive list of all the events and conferences in the development sector that you will not find anywhere else. Below are some of the most noteworthy events in the sector.

Upcoming Events

APRIL

4th Oceans Forum on Trade-related aspects of SDG 14

The ocean's resources sustain the livelihoods of about 3 billion people worldwide, the vast majority of whom live in developing countries. But those livelihoods are under threat, as the ocean and its ability to sustain life are in grave danger due to human activities, such as pollution and overfishing.

Date and location: 6 - 8 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/ja832>

Improving the Multilateral Pandemic Response

Tentatively, the world is transitioning out of the pandemic phase of the COVID-19 outbreak, aided by immunity from vaccination and prior infection. Multilateral institutions, including the African Union, COVAX, the World Health Organization, and the World Bank, have been indispensable in the response, delivering life-saving vaccines, technical assistance, and more to low- and middle-income countries. Yet, these institutions have been criticized, with arguments that their response was insufficient given the overwhelming need.

Date and location: 07 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/NMATC>

World Health Day

The climate crisis is the biggest health threat to humankind, says the World Health Organization, which puts the number of deaths attributable to environmental causes each year at more than 13 million. The theme for this year's World Health Day is "Our Planet, Our Health."

Date and location: 07 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/mGJl7>

Artificial intelligence in translation – the changing role of translators, data management, ethics

This workshop will form an integral part of Eötvös Loránd University's spring conference entitled "Reconceptualizing the role of the translator and interpreter in the digital age". The workshop will examine in what way artificial intelligence, in particular NMT has been changing the translator profession. Two plenaries on data-centric artificial intelligence in machine translation and on NMT-related changes regarding translators' roles and translation quality, respectively, will pave the way for the round-table discussion, whose participants will explore how the progress of AI transforms the role of the human translator, what challenges and opportunities this progress presents for today's translators, and what consequences it entails in terms of data management, ethical considerations and skills development. Insights on the topic will be offered from a number of different perspectives, including that of the computational linguist, the translator trainer and the lawyer-linguist.

Date and location: 08 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/1Uxu3>

Book Launch: COVID-19 and Potential for Economic Recovery in the CAREC Region

The focus will be on the impacts of COVID-19 on CAREC economies that are an increasingly important channel for trade and energy resources, the outlook for economic recovery in the region, and related policy recommendations.

Date and location: 11 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/1af8t>

Results-Based Management | Blended Course

Results-based management (RBM) has gained much influence in international cooperation. Still, many organisations struggle to plan for real results with the accompanying processes and tools. RBM has consequences for the entire organisation: for project planning, monitoring, evaluation, and learning. Learning how to design a solid RBM framework – in various forms – is a good first step to integrate RBM in your organisation.

Date and location: 18 April – 13 May 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/ujhQv>

Think20-Associated Webinar on Rethinking Social Protection Reform in the Post-Pandemic Recovery

The COVID-19 pandemic continues to transform social protection needs in Asia and the Pacific and globally. It has also elevated the importance of social protection reform and the development of emergency safety nets that can protect and support vulnerable groups and help reverse increasing inequality driven by the COVID-19 crisis.

Date and location: 21 April 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/ON4zm>

UN Biodiversity Conference (COP 15)

The Conference will look at the implementation of the protocols of the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) that deal with the fair and equitable sharing of benefits from the use of nature, and the safe transport, handling and labelling of Living Modified Organisms.

Date and location: 25 April – 8 May 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/D251U>

Full Advocacy and Policy Influencing PMEL and Skills | Blended Course and Coaching Sessions

This course offers a full learning trajectory and coaching on your own API case. It includes three weeks of interactive online sessions and two weeks of face-to-face sessions in Ede – the Netherlands. It covers the Planning, Monitoring, Evaluation & Learning of your API design.

Date and location: 25 April – 25 May 2022 | Online

Registration information: <https://www.developmentaid.org/link/l6pZR>

Explore Opportunities in Audit, Investigations and Evaluation at the United Nations Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS) | Webinar

REGISTER ONLINE

Date and location

6 April 2022 | 2 PM (Brussels Time)/
8 AM (Washington DC Time) | Virtual

Program Link:

<https://www.developmentaid.org/link/3vqqv>

DevelopmentAid, in collaboration with OIOS, invites you to join an exclusive outreach webinar on “Exploring Opportunities in Audit, Investigations and Evaluation at OIOS”. This session offers an exciting opportunity to learn more about the work of OIOS within the United Nations and to gain valuable insight into the process of becoming a competitive applicant. Join us for a panel discussion with our UN experts in the fields of audit, investigations, and evaluation from around the globe.

Candidates with international experience in Audit, Investigations, and Evaluation who have a post-graduate degree (or a Bachelor's degree with two additional years of work experience), are fluent in English (both oral and written) are encouraged to join. The UN is committed to recruiting a geographically diverse and gender-balanced workforce. Everyone is warmly invited to join, learn more and connect.

We are looking for candidates who are passionate about making a difference in the world regardless of gender identity, sexual orientation, race, religion, cultural and ethnic backgrounds, or disabilities.

REGISTER

#1 Source of Development Information, Worldwide
developmentaid.org