Description

The World Bank (USA) is part of an international financial agency that makes loans and grants to governments in low- and middle-income countries to fund capital projects. The United States was a driving force behind the founding of the World Bank in 1944 and it is still the World Bank's largest shareholder today.

The United States contributes to tackling critical international development concerns through the World Bank Group and has a long history of generously supporting the objectives of the World Bank Group and has been a champion of the International Development Association (IDA) which provides low-interest loans and grants to the world's poorest countries. The key U.S. priorities at the World Bank include a multilateral health and economic response to COVID-19, debt sustainability and transparency, promoting governance and fighting corruption, ending energy poverty and supporting a strong emphasis on accountability, transparency and development impact.

Due Diligence Tools

In 2010, five multilateral donors, the World Bank, Inter-American Development Bank, African Development Bank, European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and the Asian Development Bank, signed an agreement on the mutual enforcement of debarments. This agreement allows donors to share information on debarred companies and individuals, often resulting in cross-debarment by other donors.

- ✓ If a donor is notified of an allegation of corruption, fraud, or coercive or collusive practices by a firm or individual involved with one of its projects, the donor will investigate the allegation.

- ✓ If the allegation of misconduct is confirmed, the donor will move to debar the individual and/or company.
- ✓ Any individual or company debarred by the donor will be prohibited from bidding for all projects financed by the said donor for the duration of the debarment.
- ✓ The donor may choose to refer their findings to the relevant judicial authorities for potential prosecution.

Call for Partnerships Service

Call for Partnerships – new service on the DevelopmentAid website. Obtain funding opportunities by interacting with partners from different geographic areas and diverse backgrounds (universities, institutes, consulting, engineering companies, NGOs etc.). By bringing local companies from their region, they contribute with their local market know-how and other valuable local level.

Who can use calls for partner service?

Any organization, if the project is related to the development sector or there is donor financing involved. Companies often collaborate and partner up with other companies for various projects and, in doing so, they form a consortium or joint venture.

Why choose DevelopmentAid to post your call for partners?

By posting your call on our website you will be joining a thriving community of over 230,000 organizations active in the development sector. You will advertise your call free of charge and connect with other organizations that have the same goals as you.

The calls4partners menu is a matchmaking service to help organizations and companies to find the right partner in order to form a consortium or joint venture to win a tender or a grant.
